New Techniques Join Elston's Traditions

The new and the old blend at Elston, tradition and innovation; for a school must use tradition as the groundwork upon which new ideas are built. The walks of Elston are cracked, desktops are patchworks of carvings and pencil inscriptions—but a TV set rolls through the halls.

Each year brings new teaching techniques and materials to Elston. Besides movie and slide projectors, the 1963 AVA operator rolled six TV sets to forty classrooms. School television installations were initiated in Indiana two years ago. Classes in American Government, World History, American Literature, and American History tune in MPATI Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction.

What is this infectious patriotism reflected in Elston's halls? It is pride—not a vain wreath crowning pompous arrogance, but justifiable pride: pleasure taken in accomplishment. For work and striving create the right of pride. It is the exuberance of a basketball victory, the tear-sprinkled chant after a loss of

This is a bell. It is the Good Will Bell, in fact. It belongs in Elston's study hall—ask anyone at Elston; he'll tell you so. It had been there for quite a while. But this year Something Happened. The Bell was gone. No one would say what had happened, but it had something to do with burning La Porte.

Then the Bell was Back. Half of Elston's students had hoarse throats and frayed nerves. Somehow some sparsely clad young men and a great deal of yelling had brought the Bell Back.

This time it will stay Home.

Pat Tylisz, 1961 queen, receives a jubilant smile as she crowns the new queen, Theresa Gryvna.

How can one create a South Seas island from crepe paper, papier mache, wire, canvas, wood, straw, glue, nails, paint, and muscle-power? This was the problem confronting the members of the class of '63 when they made "Bali Hai" their prom theme; they supplied the answer—imagination.

For a total of 8,836 hours the juniors worked to make their imagination come alive. These hours were spent earning money for materials in junior concessions, planning decorations in steering committee meetings, gathering materials for and constructing the decorations. As June 1 approached, juniors demonstrated their creativity by working on the decorations. The gratifying moment came when, dressed in formals and tuxedoes, they saw anew what they had worked on in bluejeans.

The problem of constructing a realistic volcano confronts Theresa Gryvna, John Hileman, and Pam Baker.

"Bali Hai may whisper,
on the wind, on the sea:
'Here am I, your special island.
Come to me, come to me.'"

Bali Hai, the magical dream-island of South Pacific, was for a night transplanted to Elston's 1962 prom. Couples entered past a waterfall, saw island scenes on the wall and a grass hut on the floor; a volcano loomed menacingly near the dancers. Walking around carrying refreshments were young black-haired Polynesians in sarongs and mu-mu's (usually reliable sources state that these islanders were in reality ordinary sophomores). Juniors and seniors danced around the palm trees until the grand march, then left for post-prom parties. Soon after, only an auditorium stood where Bali Hai had been.

Many hams and few lambs provided an evening of entertainment in the annual Honor Society Hams and Lambs show. Jack Paar's alter ego, Mr. Lootens, stitched the show together with a constant line of jokes and patter. Mr. Mohammed indulged in a whimsical soft shoe portraying Jerry Lewis. Stagestruck students provided several numbers including a brass band and a vocal trio.

With a great deal of effort, bed sheets became togas for the Latin Club's Roman Banquet. Students became slaves, serving food and running from table to table with messages. Bob Block and Linda Schendel received prizes as the best dressed pseudo-Romans. At the end of the banquet, Latin Club members returned to Twentieth Century and conventional clothes.

Winter events brighten calendar

Michigan City's first Junior Miss Contest was sponsored by the Jaycees in a search for the typical American girl. Their choice was based upon scholarship, personality, community interests, appearance, activities. Barb Weihmiller was selected and represented our city at state contest in Elkhart.

Elston's love for the solemnity and tradition of Christmas was highlighted in two holiday events—the annual Dahlite Christmas Tea and the yearly Thespian Christmas play.

The Dahlite Tea in honor of administration officials, senior high faculty, parents of Dahlites and special guests was a pleasant afternoon of punch, cookies, and conversation. It was climaxed with the presentation of an original play, "Let's Keep Christmas."

Thespians presented two short plays, "None But the Fair," a modern light Christmas play, and "To Us a Son," depicting the reaction of a Jewish family who witnessed the Nativity. At the invitation of the Women's Study Club, Thespians gave a special performance of "To Us a Son" at the club's December meeting.

Sue Ebert and Deryle Durand enjoy a few of the many festive foods at the Dahlite Tea.

Judy (Deryle Durand), Susannah (Pat Ruby), Joshua (Rick Jones), Joseph (Dennis Flanigan), Mary (Sue Pudlo), Mara (Donna Peters), Shepherd (Ron Stalbaum), and Jacob (Scott Kunkel), gather around the manager in the last scene of "To Us a Son."

"Happy New Year!" exclaim Mary Mathias, Barbara Miller, Kirk Rogers, and Sue Armstrong.

Enjoying January's record cold wave, Drew Reid, Barbara Rieck, Kristi Cook, Howard Haberman, and Vicki Chern skate at Ames Field.

Targets Glenn Wisnieski and Scott Kunkel cringe before Bonnie Rodgers, Connie Seeling, Pam Stibbe, and Barbara Cashbaugh in a lively snow fight.

The King

A touch of Siam was brought to Elston's stage in THE KING AND I, Rodgers and Hammerstein's colorful musical of the adventures of Anna Loenowens, English tutor to Siam's royal wives and children during the 1860's.

Anna's conflicts with the stubborn king lessened as they came to understand one another. With the death of the king, Anna realized that people who differ can find pleasure and love in these differences. The Mother and son comforted themselves with "Whenever I Feel Afraid"; Anna and the king swayed to "Shall We Dance"; the children marched; and Anna sympathized with "Hello, Young Lovers."

Under the supervision of Mr. Timberlake, director, Mr. Hendricks, orchestra leader, and Mr. Halpin, technical advisor, two hundred students transformed the Junior High Auditorium into a regal palace and court. The lead of the king was played by Scott Kunkel; Anna, Deryle Durand; Lady Thiang, Linda Schendel; Tuptim, Lynn Graham; Lun Tha, Rick Jones; Prince Chelalongkorn, Fred Stockwell. Their efforts were rewarded when, by popular demand, a command performance was held on Monday, February 25th. The members of stage crew, costumes, make-up, properties, publicity, lighting committees, and the twenty-three piece student orchestra contributed to the success of the show, a highlight of '63.

In his new position Mr. Jones discusses schedules with Lynn Yeater and Gail Lowery.

Mr. Jones leaves for Barker

Mr. Wegner advises Bob Gleason, Sandy Shires, and Ron Glanz on their student activities.

Mr. Warren (Are we weak, or are we strong?) Jones became assistant principal of Elston Senior High in 1955. Guiding student activities, disciplining the waywards, leading pep sessions,—these were some of his tasks. Though it's best not to, many find themselves saying, "Mr. Jones said . . ." or "Mr. Jones used to . . ." Students and faculty miss him—his good humor, loyalty, diligence—and wish him all success and happiness as principal of Barker Junior High.

Mr. Harold Wegner, former teacher of English, safety, health, physical education, and driver's education, former varsity basketball coach, and present tennis coach and class sponsor, is now assistant principal of Elston Senior High. Today his work includes attendance, tardiness, and requisitions. Welcome, Mr. Wegner, our new administrator.

Concentrating, Judy and Grissell prepare their lessons for the next day.

Enjoying her favorite pastime, Grissell watches television with Kathy and Judy.

Exchange student joins Elston community

The class of '63 acquired a new student, Carmen Grissell Perez Cordoba, known as Grissell to Elston students. Grissell, whose home is in Caracus, Venezuela, arrived in Michigan City August 26th as a foreign exchange student.

During her stay in Michigan City, Grissell lived with Mr. and Mrs. Al Pontius and their children; Judy, Lynda, Gil, and Kathy. Grissell shared in the fun and responsibilities of the family by helping with housework and baby-sitting, watching T.V., and enjoying hamburgers (her favorite American food).

Grissell's school in Caracus differed from Elston in many respects. There, students remained in the same room all day; moving from room to room at first thoroughly confused Grissell. She has undertaken government, U. S. History, advanced social, public speaking, and English seven and eight in her study.

Between June 10 and 25 Grissell will tour major United States cities with other exchange students. After this Grissell will return home to her family and her friends.

"Do not pass GO. Do not collect $200!" exclaims Grissell to Gil, Kathy, and Judy.

Seniors present Harvey

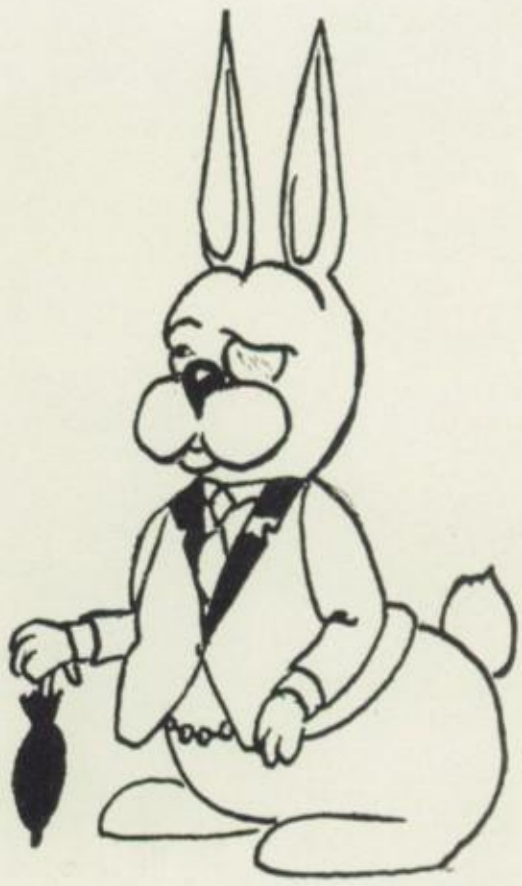
Juniors and seniors spent hours preparing their class plays, both well-known comedies.

Juniors romped through "My Sister Eileen" on November 16 and 17. The plot revolved around the experiences of two small town Ohio girls in New York City. Eileen (Lynn Graham, Kim Frier) the sweet, innocent actress attracted a weird assortment of characters to the sister's Greenwich Village basement apartment much to the consternation of the practical authoress Ruth (Helen Shock, Betsy Rosenberg). An enthusiastic audience watched resolution of their problems.

On March 29 and 30 seniors presented Mary Chase's Harvey. The title lead was a six foot white rabbit (a pooka) who was invisible to everyone except Elwood P. Dowd (John Hileman). Veta Simmons (Betty Garrels) planned to place her brother in Dr. Chumley's (Scott Kunkel) Rest Home as a last effort to save daughter Myrtle's (Susie Anderson) social life. But Elwood proved to his sister and the Rest Home staff that he was sane and that Harvey was a reality—or was he? A pleasant addition to the plot was the sometimes-up sometimes-down romance between Dr. Sanderson (Rick Jones) and Nurse Ruth Kelly (Barbara Weihmiller). Other members of the cast were: Marilyn Cook, Jackie Widmar, Bruce Chambers, Deryle Durand, Terry Ryden, and Ed Woodrick.



"WE GOT TROUBLE." Scott Kunkel sings this song from Music Man.

"I FEEL PRETTY," is sung by Diana Waldrep and accompanied by the band.

Mr. Hendricks, conductor of Elston's band, opened the first combined band and choral assembly with a fanfare; the chorus, under Mr. Timberlake, followed with "Everything's Coming up Roses." After an introduction by Mr. Jones, the program continued with several combined band and chorus numbers. Scott Kunkel performed a rendition of "We Got Trouble" from Music Man; two groups of local hillbillies performed. The Modern Jazz Chorus, backed by the Dance Band, sang several popular songs. The assembly closed with the national anthem and the school loyalty song.

"YOU WERE TEMPTATION," adds a bit of variety to the assembly. Lynn Graham, Stewart Northrop, Diana Waldrep, Faye Agemy, Tom Cowan, Dale Peters.

LARRY BEAVER is caught from behind by a Washington lineman in City's Homecoming game.

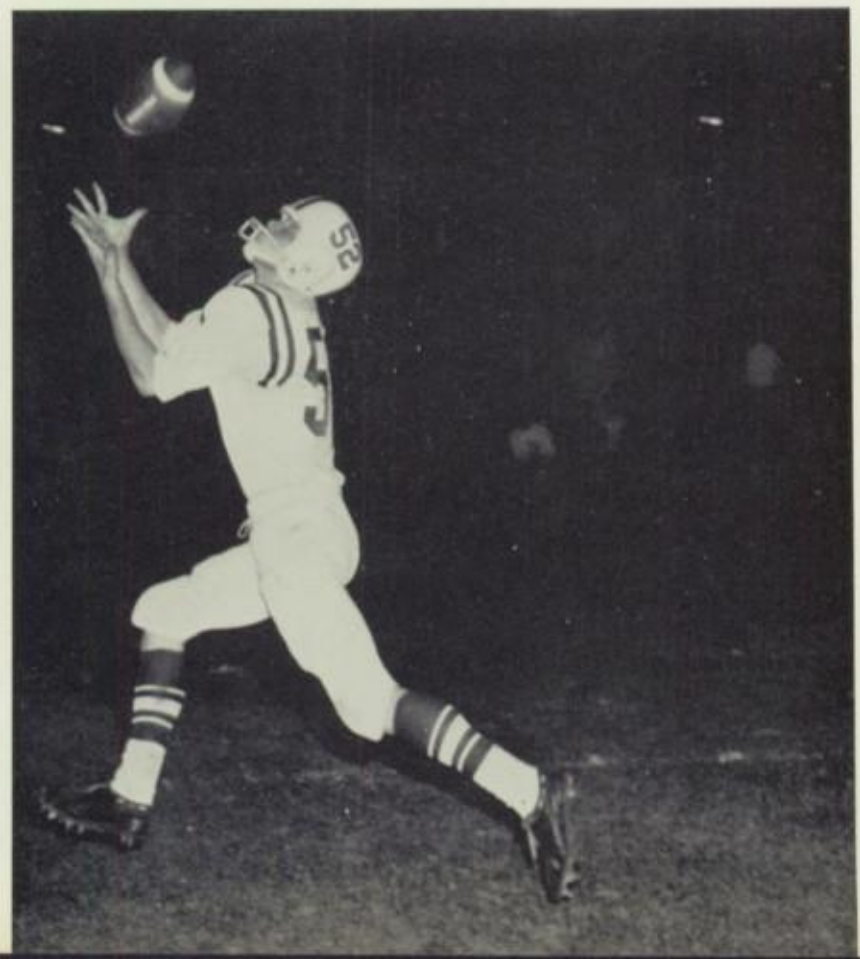
HE'S TRAPPED! but Bert Henry escaped and pitched to J. B. Kiser for a 72 yard touchdown.

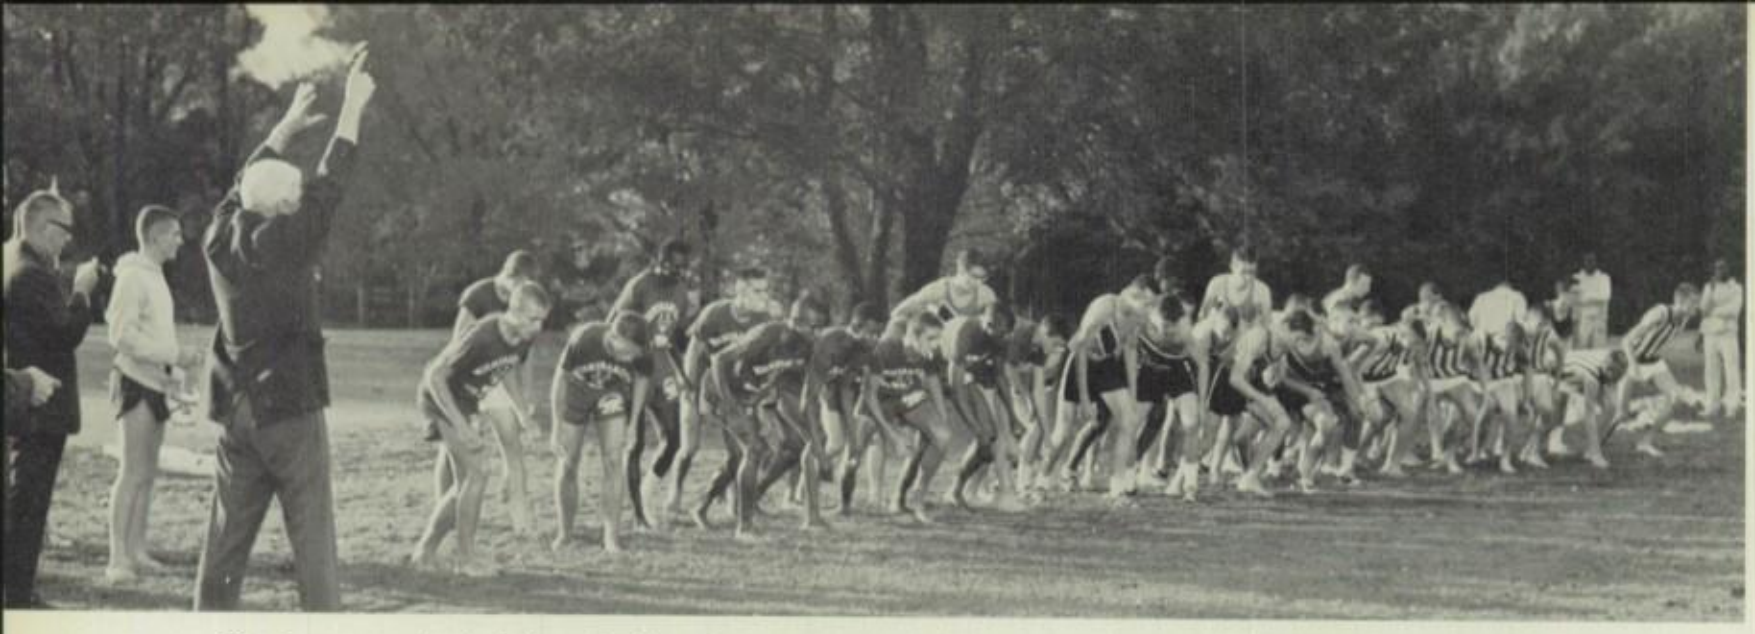
Red Devils uphold Overman tradition

Coach Vic Overman's Fighting Red Devils upheld a City-Overman tradition when they tied the Senators of East Chicago Washington 14-14. During the eight years that Coach Overman and his staff have been at Michigan City High, the Fighting Red Devils have never lost a homecoming. The Big Red, besides tieing Washington, spoiled two other homecomings, defeating Hobart's Brickies and The Goshen Redskins to ruin successful seasons for both teams.

The Senators, ranked number two in the state, were stunned when Bert Henry rolled around his own left end, then pitched to halfback J. B. Kiser who completed the 72 yard scoring run. Halfback Larry Beaver scored the other touchdown on a two yard plunge to complete the stunning upset.

TERRY SMITH scoops in a 35 yard pass from quarterback Bert Henry during the LaPorte game.



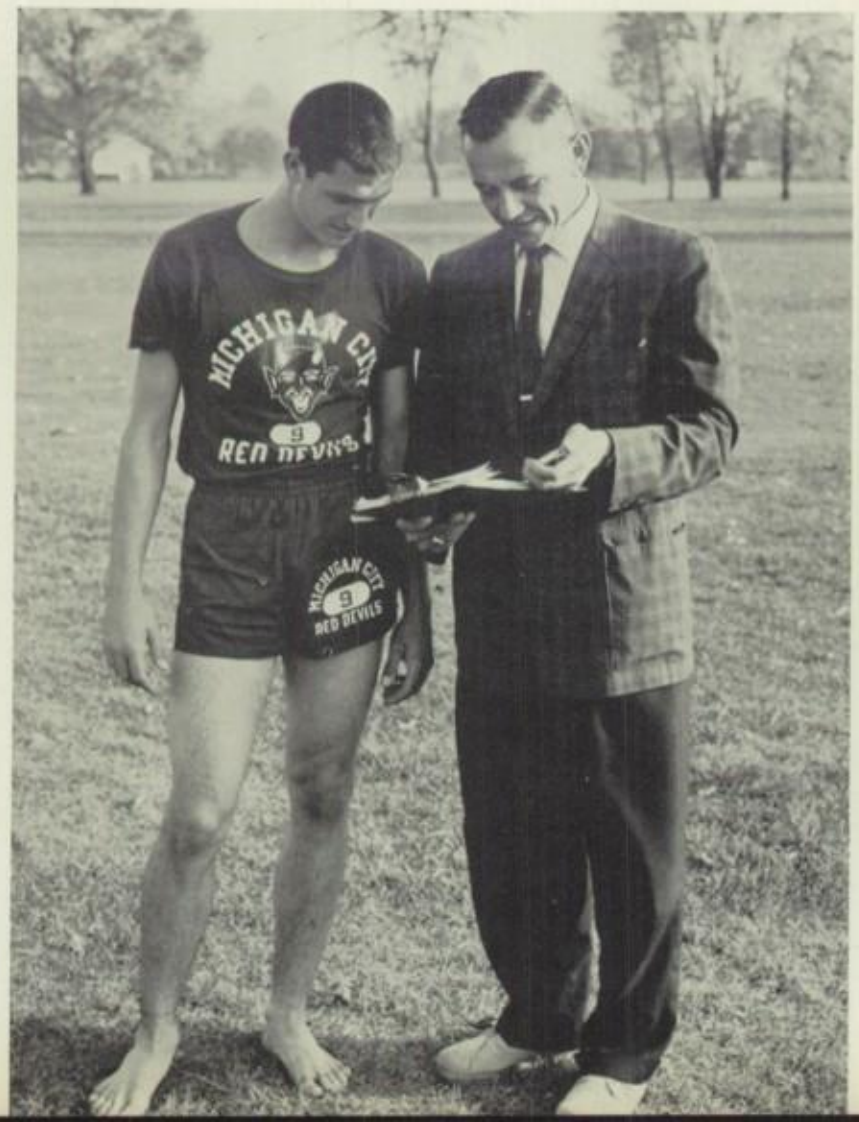


City jumps to the lead in a double win over LaPorte and Lew Wallace's cross country squads.

Nate Gibson, Eugene White, Duane Kelly, and Jim Henley lead the pack and City to another victory.

Two-milers run to winning season

"Excellent times," remarks coach Doug Adams to runner, Steve Major.



And they're off!

Michigan City Municipal Golf Course is the setting when cross country runners (barefoot to cut down fatigue due to weight of shoes) streak across fairway and rough. Coach Adams stalks his men on a little motor scooter as they run the two mile course. As in golf the low score wins with the first five finishers of each team accounting for the score.

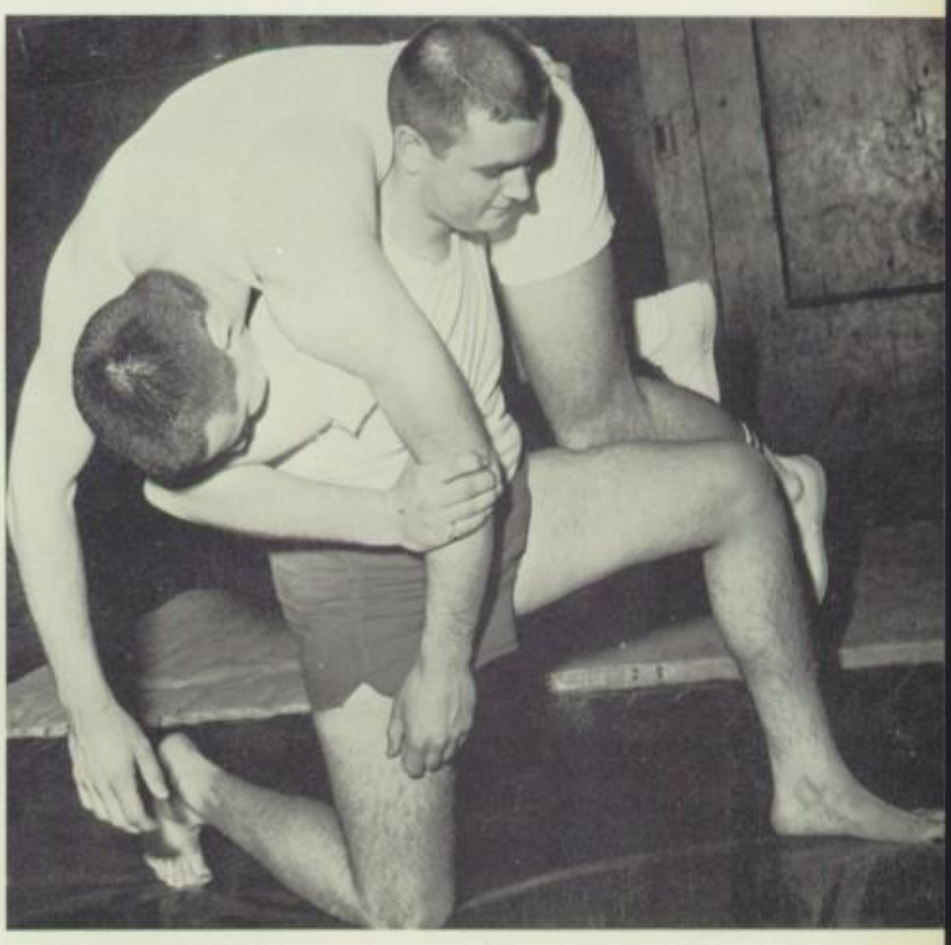
Wrestling was new this year at Elston. Although this was an organization year for the team, invaluable experience was gained in the two matches played with LaPorte and Chesterton. Each afternoon the twenty team members under the direction of Coach Cripe worked out with weights and practiced the fundamental holds of wrestling. Graduation will take two of the outstanding team members, John Greenway and Ken Dee, but prospects for next year's team look favorable.

Terry Darrow pins John Jacobs with a reverse half nelson and a leg tie up.

Wrestling comes to Elston

John Jacobs, on top, and Terry Darrow take the referee's position to begin the match.

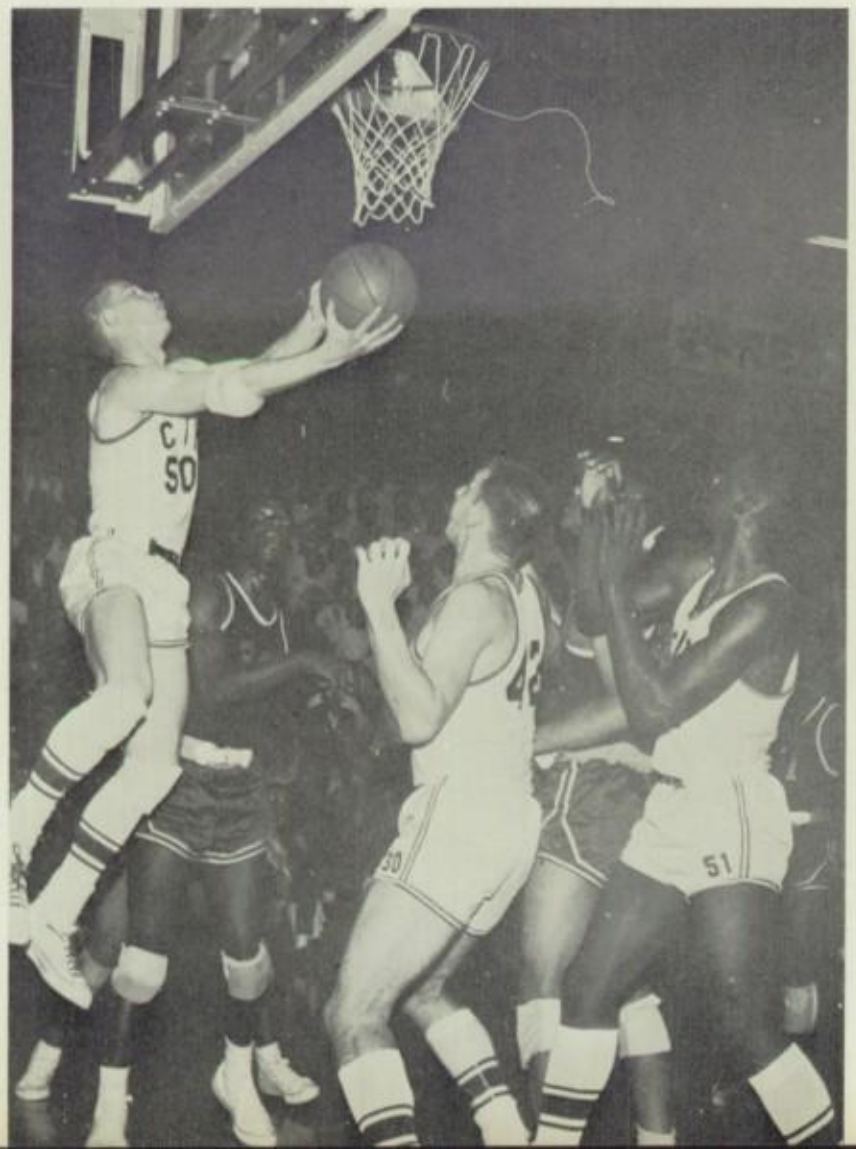
John Greenway is halfway through a fireman's carry in a pinning combination over Ken Dee.



J. B. Kiser leads the Red Devils through the hoop in an overtime win against the Marshall Commandos.

City cops No. 1 spot with tourney wins

Terry Smith attempts a reverse layup as Dale Phillips and John Rhodes wait to rebound.



" . . . so make it a good game, will ya, Doug? It's a long trip and a lot of people will make it, so try not to disappoint them." This approximates a conversation between Coach Adams and an Evansville newspaperman several days before the number two ranked Red Devils met the number one ranked Evansville Bosse in the annual East Chicago Holiday Tournament. The Devils made it so interesting (75-61) that Bosse played Hammond Morton in the consolation game the second night. The second evening Elston's cagers met E.C. Washington (ranked fourth and vitually unbeatable on their home floor) and whipped the Senators 68-46, the first time the Devils had beaten Washington at East Chicago since 1957 when they won on a forfeit.

The Devils have been participants in this tournament only three times, losing once, winning twice.

CENTERFIELDER BERT HENRY pauses for a drink before going to bat in another City victory.

The Fighting Red Devils of Coach Dave Parry won a Division Championship in Coach Parry's second year as head coach. His assistant, Paul Michaels, pitched regularly for Indiana three years ago; his knowledge was a big factor in the Devils' success.

Early in April City played South Bend Central at Ames Field, beating the Bears 6-5 in a game that excited an unusually large crowd at the local diamond. The lead changed hands several times with the contest going one extra inning. The Red Devils were down 5-3 going into the last of the eighth inning. The inning started when Norm Porterfield lined out to centerfield, and things started to look pretty dim. Doug Greenlaw reached first base via a dropped third strike, and Jimmy Arnold drove Greenlaw home with a 390 foot triple; Arnold's triple was followed by walks to Terry Smith, Bert Henry, and Bob Pilecki; Pilecki's walk forced in Arnold to tie the score and load the bases. Tom Tiedeman then fouled out to the catcher. Dennie Cox came up with two out, the bases loaded, and the winning run on third base. Cox lined a single to centerfield driving home the game's winning run and with it the Division Championship.

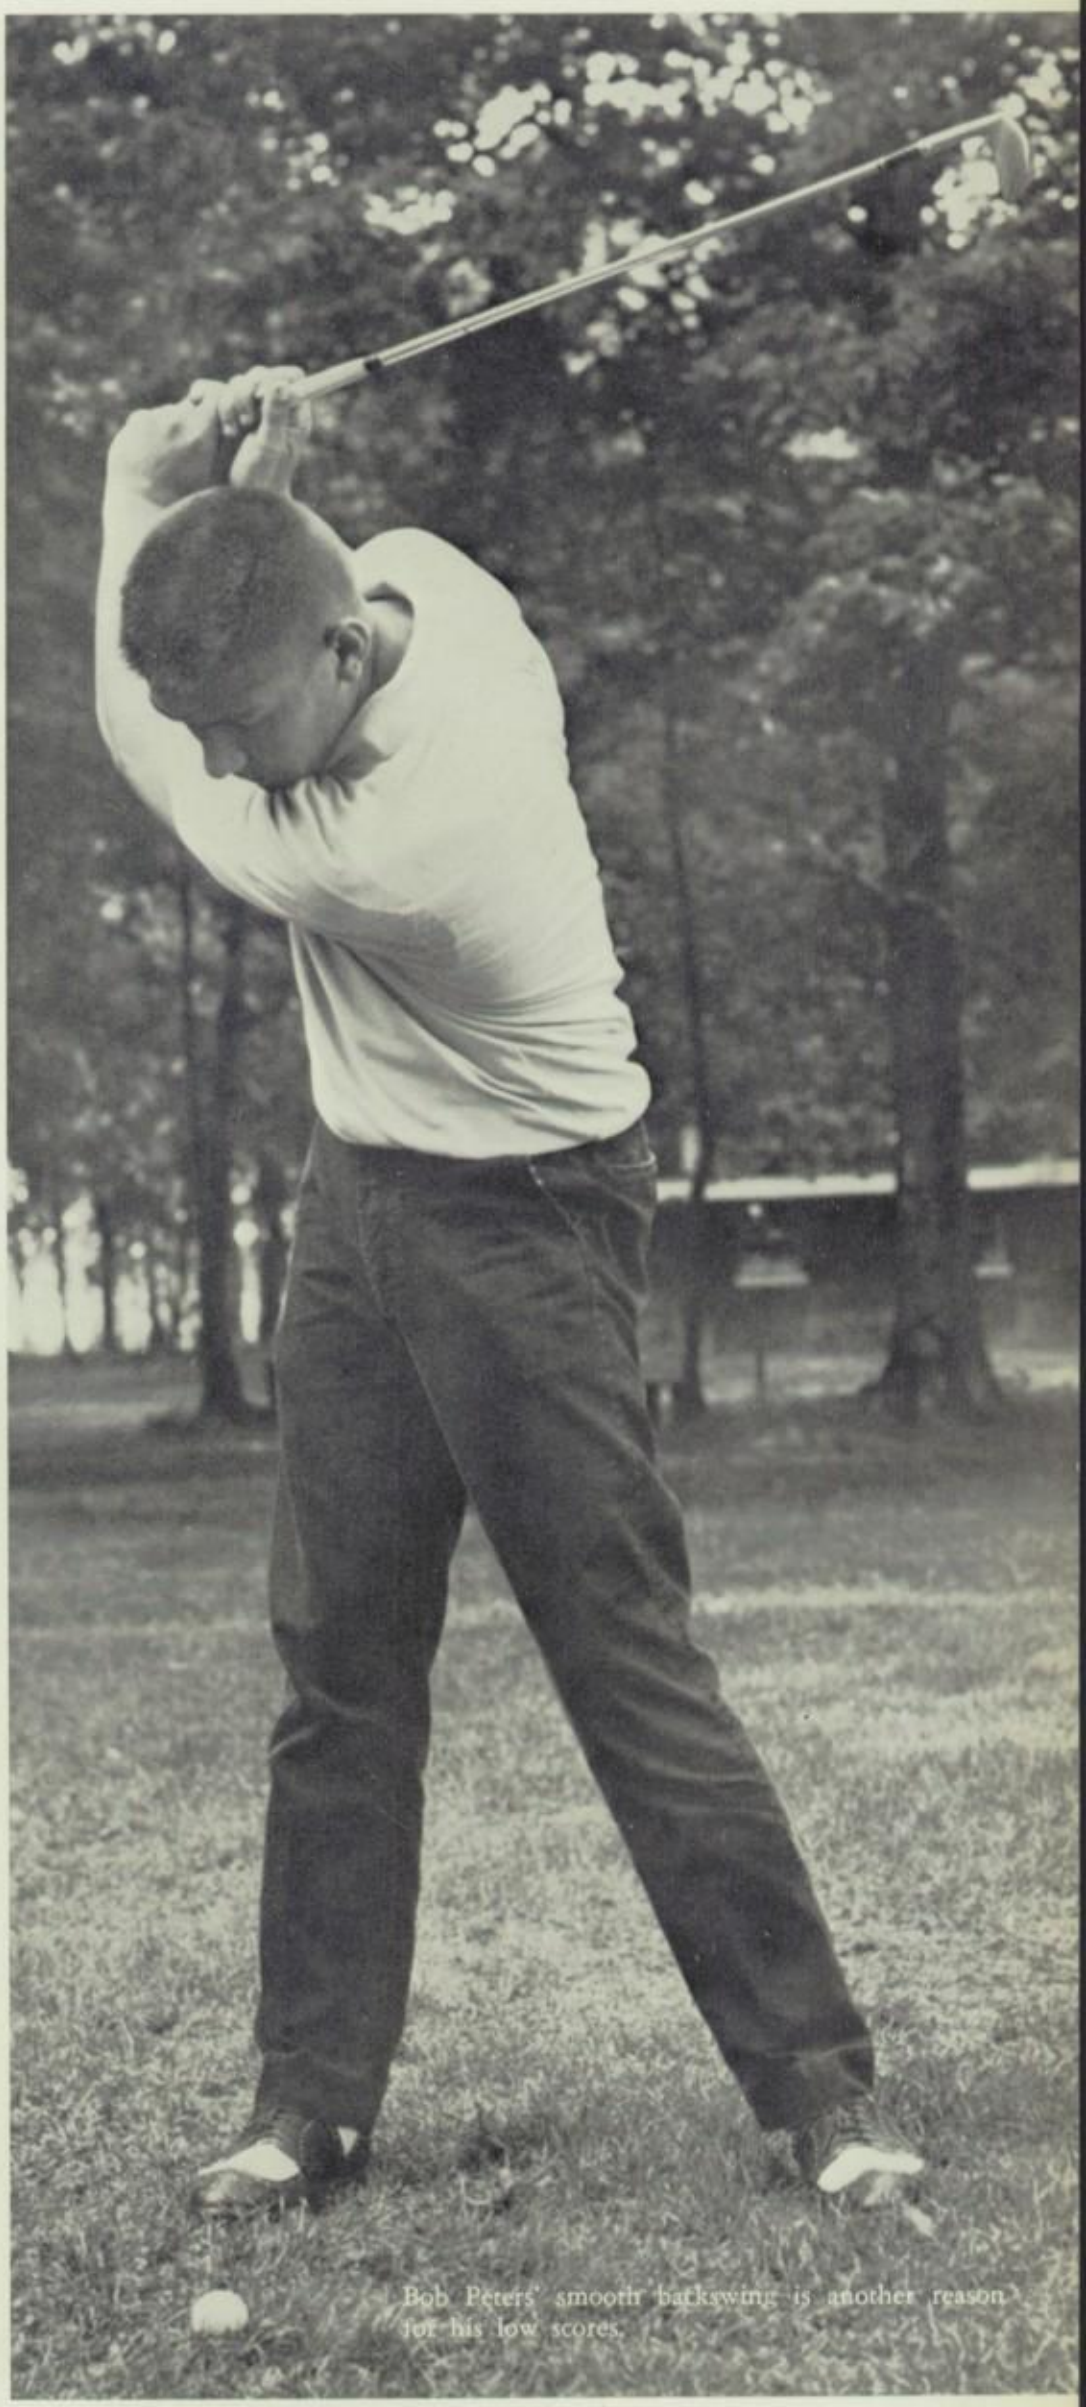
Individual sports yet a team effort—this is the case in golf and track and swimming. Runners dash through snow and ice during pre-season practice; Mark Winski (5′8″, 145 pounds) defeats John Serbin (6′5″, 225 pounds) in the Hammond Invitational; in its second year Coach Kuszmaul's Swimming Team chalks up an 8-6 season and wins the Goshen Relays. These activities, bringing growth, pleasure, success, dotted the '63 sports calendar.



Bob Peters' smooth backswing is another reason for his low scores.

Coach Ross Kuzmaul shows the best qualifying time to top swimmers John Curtis, Jeff Weidner, Dennis Kurz, and Tom Reed.

Dick Schaumann and Johnnie Crawford, Honor Society members, collect contributions for the Channel 11 Drive.

Many Elston students participate in the local People-in-Politics classes.

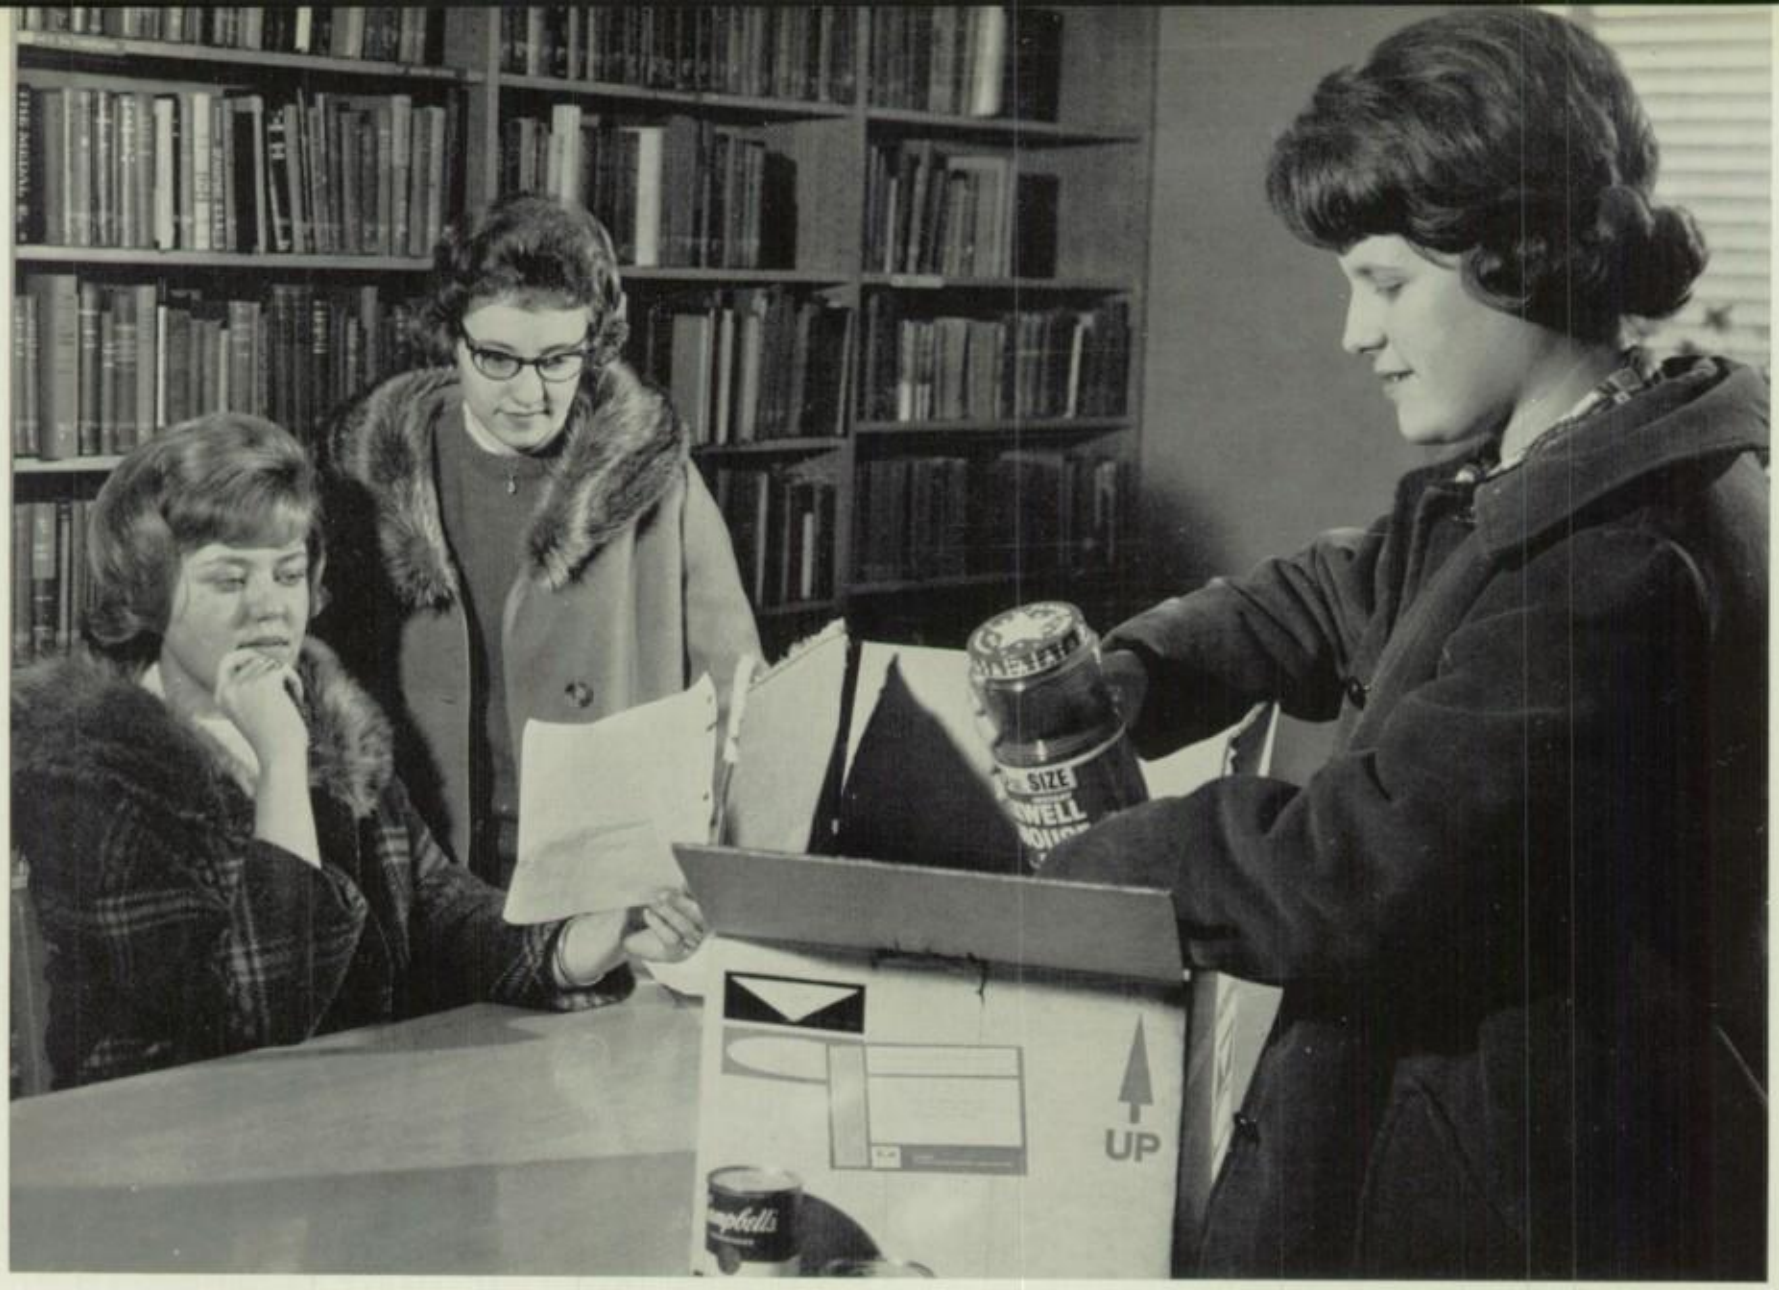
Community projects combine service, learning

Elston students are the mechanism through which national and regional charities draw support from the community. The clothing drive, sponsored here by the National Honor Society, received outgrown garments from home room members, and from these same home rooms, Honor Society members recruited workers for their door to door canvass of the Michigan City area for the Channel 11 Drive (which, incidentally, yielded a record $1,200 this year). For the March of Dimes Elston students spent a Saturday morning and afternoon hawking peanuts on Franklin Street corners.

A golden jug containing the ashes of Marvin the Magnificent (an aardvark) was presented to the homeroom giving the most money to the Elston Squeeze, the high school united fund.

The community-sponsored P.I.P. Course gives students and adults a chance to study practical political method. This self-taught course encourages members to participate in politics at all levels.

Jack Harrison, Student Council president, presents the Elston Squeeze golden pot to Dorothy Berkes.



Dahlites Connie Bard, Barbara Cashbaugh, and Jackie Skierkowski prepare Thanksgiving baskets.

Nancy Merriman and John Greenway help pack garments for the school's annual Clothing Drive, which is sponsored by the National Honor Society.

Sue Hurst hands Dr. Fryar the proper tool.

Students, community—community, students— how intertwined! Sue Hurst works afternoons as a dental assistant to Dr. Gene Fryar, orthodontist; Linda Schendel teaches accordian lessons at Bortoli School of Music; John Hileman is a courtesy boy at Al's Thriftimart.

Patience, application, courtesy, alertness—many qualities are strengthened on the job. Often new perspective and insight come with these experiences.

John Hileman stocks the dairy counter.

Students employed in community

Linda Schendel, Cheryl Ann Gallas enjoy a practice session.

Ushers for the Sinai Sunday evening forum Don Abel, Peter Bankoff, Vic Vernick, Dan Franks, and Dick Spiers talk with the guest speaker, actor-singer Ray Middleton, before his performance.

Discussing plans for Career Day, an annual event at Elston, are Dick Schaumann, Miss Koza, Mr. Surber, Mr. Byrd, and Mrs. Breed.

Mr. John Johnston, lecturer, explains a molecular structure to Mr. Joe Alinsky, RoAnn Stuart, Mr. Ed White, Mary Mathias, and Dan Franks at a Science Seminar meeting.

Local businesses provide educational opportunities

Michigan City's business community makes possible a variety of opportunities for interested Elston students. Annually on Career Day representatives of over fifty different occupations come to the high school and speak for approximately two hours to students interested in those fields. The variety ranges from undertaking to baseball, engineering to nursing.

Sinai Sunday Evening Forum is so popular with students that an entire section is set aside for them. Buying a series ticket at the special $2 price, students are privileged to hear world-famous speakers from fields of science, literature, theater, politics, journalism, and government.

The Michigan City Science Seminar for Advanced Students was organized in January, 1961. Twenty-nine students were then chosen to participate. The group, under the direction of Mr. Joe Alinsky, meets each Monday evening at the Weil McLain conference room. Professional lecturers are drawn from local and area industries. Student members are selected each year through screening and examination.

Without community cooperation these activities would be impossible. Now students are able to take part in community-wide, diversified educational programs.

Seniors are measured for caps and gowns in the library. Jeff McWhorter, Mrs. Westphal.

Seniors Ed Woodrick, Ron Glanz, Tim Dunlap, Pam Stibbe, and Trisha Wilson ponder college materials.

What does the senior think during the graduation ceremony?

"Walk slowly, Keep in step. Relax. Don't be nervous. Watch everyone. Look, there's Mom and Dad—don't smile. This is serious. Look at the tassel sway—back and forth, back and forth. Turn slowly—very dramatic, aren't we? Face the front. Sit slowly. Please be there, chair. Thank you. Here comes our speaker—he's not too bad. Just a little to his left is where we had our volcano. That Prom was fun—painting and stretching and building. Right over there were two palm trees. And there was our tropical hut.

"These seats get hard. Yes, I know. Graduation is a beginning not an end. End—I remember the end of that LaPorte game in the Sectionals. It sure was good to beat them, and we got the bell back. What a wild game. That was the week before term papers. What a mess. I'm sure lucky to be here. Time to go.

"Walk slowly across the stage. 'Thank you. Thank you.' Move the tassel. Don't trip. Boy, that leather feels good. Let the beginning begin!"

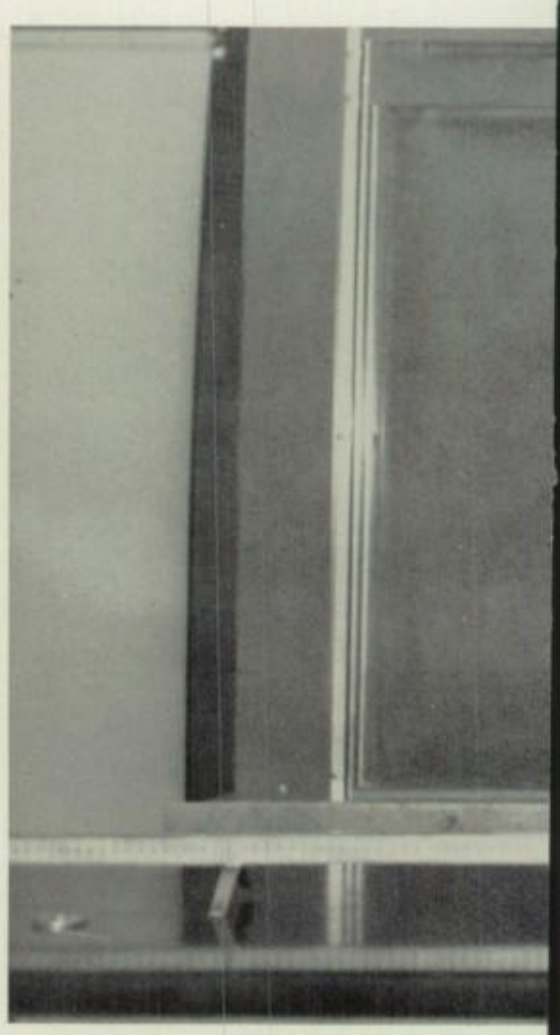
Academics



Science department

Elston has added new courses to its math and science departments. For the second year geometry is taught on the Ball State Teachers' College Plan. This accelerated course is based on the postulates of Hilbert rather than those of Euclid. Algebra III, also accelerated, places more importance on the structure of mathematics and the idea of sets. Trigonometry, originally the study of indirect measurement of right triangles, is now emphasizing the relationship among the six trigonometric functions. In the spring semester a new course combining analytic geometry and an introduction to calculus was initiated. Analytic geometry is the study of geometry by algebraic methods. Calculus is concerned with rates of change, areas under curved lines, and limits of infinite series. Solid geometry and college algebra complete the mathematics curriculum.

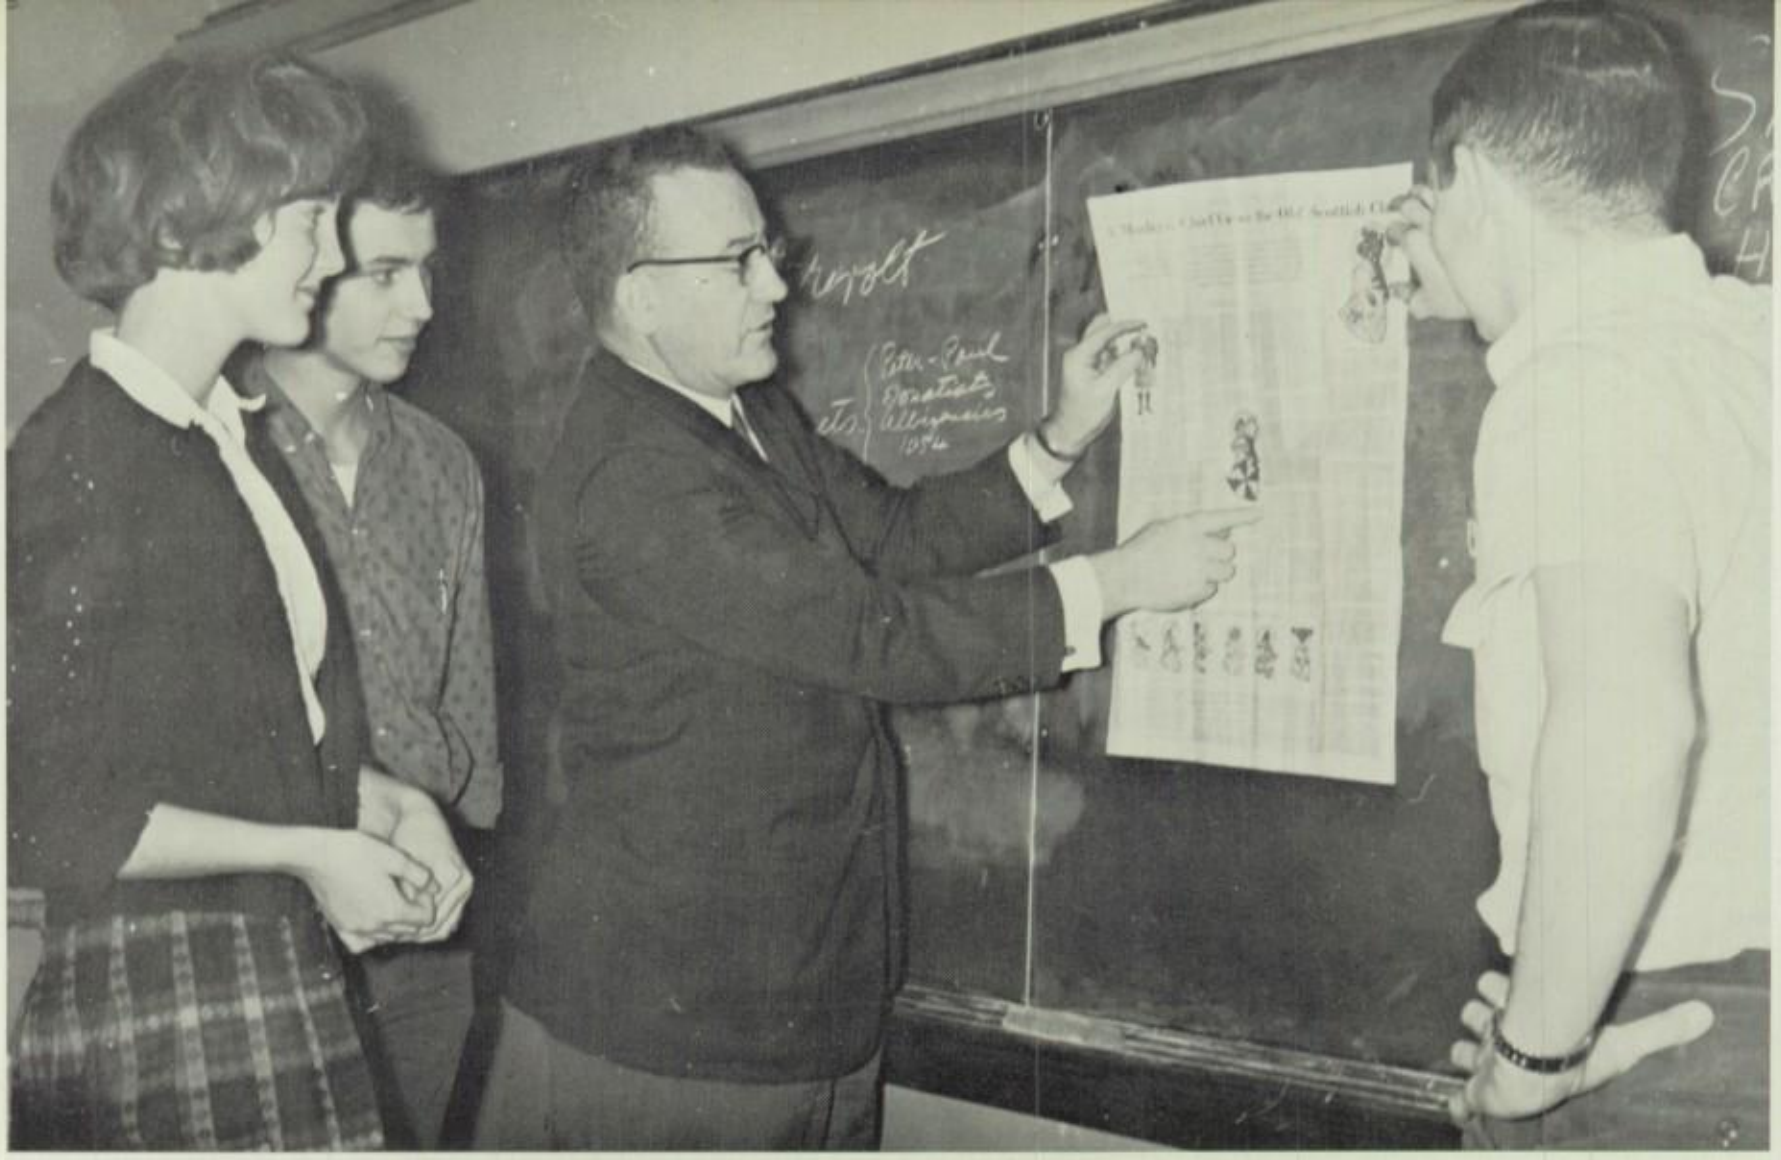
Students now have a new physics lab in which to study the effect of forces on matter. Originally the physics department had two separate rooms; now S307 is a combination lab and lecture room. The physics textbook is divided into four sections: space and time, optics and waves, motion and energy, electricity and atomic structure.

Aspiring chemists spend their time on lab work in the newly offered Chemistry III and IV classes; they analyze unknowns and do original research. Chemistry I and II classes study the chemical composition of 103 elements by the chemical bond approach.

Claudia Hamlin explains the complexities of an acute angle to Dennis Pellar by using the overhead projector which reflects her work on the screen for the entire geometry class to see.



MR. DONOGHUE, explaining a newspaper clipping about Scottish clans, provides ideas for special reports to Becky Sprague, Charlie West, and John Kenefick.

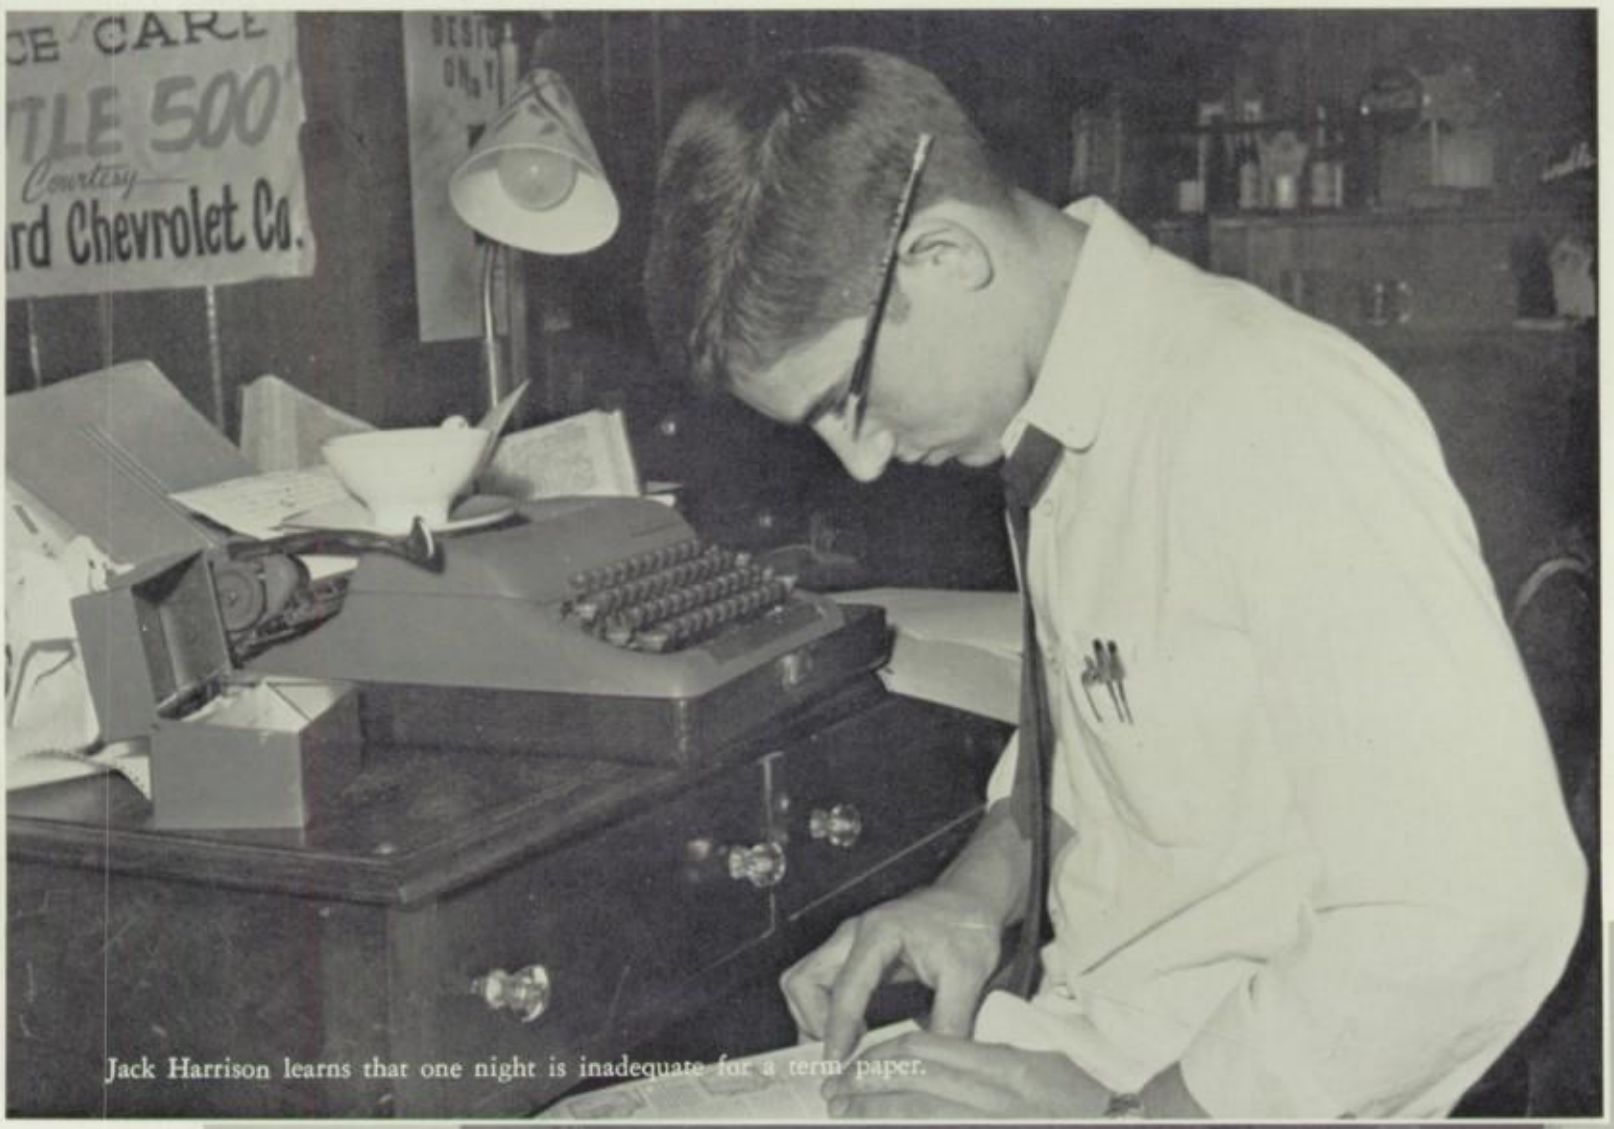
Social studies kindles pride in our heritage

The two years of social studies necessary for graduation provide knowledge of our American heritage and prepare us for voting.

World history outlines the development of the modern world: the contributions of various ancient civilizations, music, art, and literature of various periods. In United States history, students are exposed to our immediate heritage, the political, economic, social progress of our country in this two-semester course. U. S. Government class delves further into the political development of the United States and Indiana. Pupils study various American parties and the departments and procedures of Congress. One unit is concerned with voting qualifications and elections. Special time devoted to Indiana's political scene gives a knowledge of Indiana state, county, township, city, town governments. This year LaPorte County's election was an extra bonus providing awareness of the political scene.

American problems is a one-semester course concerned with the social problems of our country. The students use one textbook from which they gain information on civil rights, religious persecution, and other social difficulties. Each student has a research project.

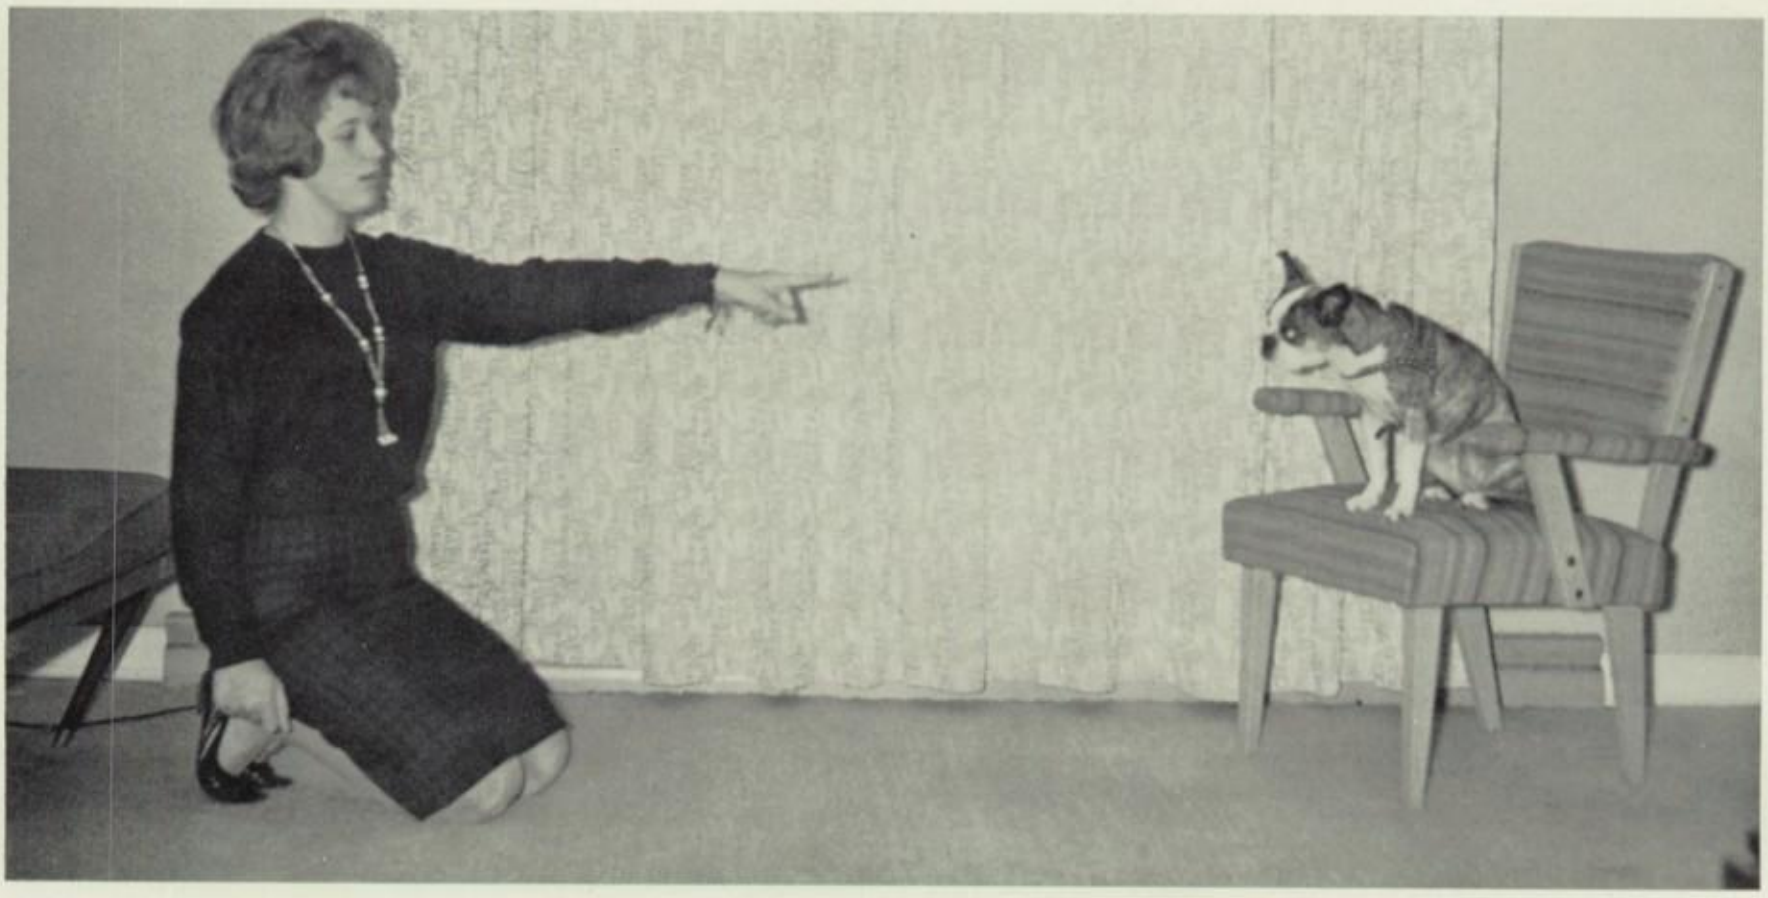
Advanced social studies also teaches about America's social problems, but in this class no particular textbook is used. Students make outlines from research they do in libraries. A term paper is done in conjunction with English 8.



Jack Harrison learns that one night is inadequate for a term paper.

Mr. Lonzo effectively demonstrates the "power of the purse" to Ron Glanz and Pam Berg.

Marguerite Wozniak proudly models the dress which she made in clothing as Florence Schoff, Diana Foldenauer, and Diane Boehnlein smile in approval.



Becky Hicks reprimands her bull terrier, Mickey, for soiling her newly-upholstered desk chair, her home project for interior decorating.

Girls prepare for homemaking career

Many girls are anxious to be proficient in homemaking; approximately twenty per cent of our girls are taking foods, sewing, fashion art, or interior decorating.

Girls who take interior decorating learn to decorate a room tastefully. They study different periods of furniture and various manufacturers, draw floor plans, learn to keep a room balanced. The girls examine samples of wallpaper, upholstery, panelings, and acquire a knowledge of proper color schemes. The climax of the course comes when the girls turn in home projects: cover pillows, chairs, rugs, draperies.

Four semesters of clothing provide a background for any seamstress. Girls learn various stitches, different facings and linings, a diversity of styles and materials. Students progress from projects of cotton skirts and blouses to semi-formals to formals. In the spring fashion show each girl displays an article of clothing she has made during the past year.

Home nursing, basically a course teaching the proper care of patients, has interesting diversifications such as baby care. First aid, sanitation, procedures of bomb shelter living are taught in accordance with the idea of civil defense. The girls study to cheer, comfort, care for the bed-ridden; this includes bathing, feeding, moving, and doctoring the patient.

Miss Kemena indicates the proper method of bathing a baby to Murtie Roland and Helen Bell.

Students enter business well-prepared

Although the business world is becoming highly mechanized, there is still no substitute for a good office worker.

Typing is a must for any secretary. In Typing One students learn the positions of the keys, the proper setting of margins, the cleaning of a typewriter. Learning the correct posture at the typewriter is an important factor in gaining speed and accuracy. In Typing Two the goal of the student is to excel in speed and become even more accurate. The major undertaking is typing a booklet. In Typing Three students work mainly on general problems and writing business letters.

Students are often in the office machine room after school, each anxious to improve the quality of his work and to gain speed and accuracy in the use of the various office machines. The students learn to skillfully operate such machines as adding machines, duplicators, dictaphones, electric typewriters, mimeographing machines.

Included in the wide variety of subjects offered in the clerical course are bookkeeping, shorthand, general business, business English. In bookkeeping pupils learn to "balance books" and keep ledgers, and in shorthand learn a quick way of taking letters and notes. In secretarial practice students take practice jobs for two weeks at a time and get on-the-job experience.

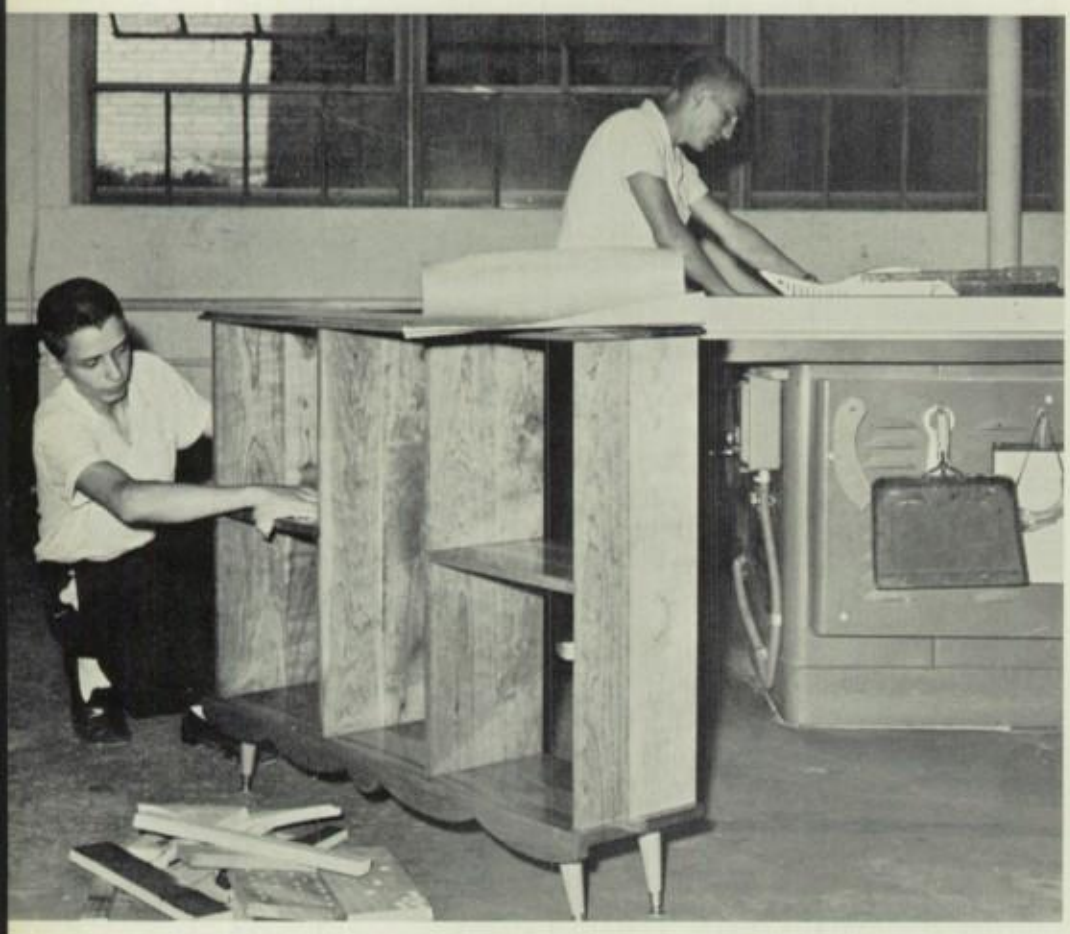
Despite a broken arm Jim Toole manages the problem of cleaning his typewriter.

Checking her work as she types, Kathy Zolvinski listens for instructions on the dictaphone.

Suzanne Lacher, Scott Krantz, Joanne Jensen, Phoebe Davis, and Lois Johnson busily balance books as Mr. Cobbum looks on.

Mrs. Urquhart explains the operation of the mimeograph machine to Georgia Miller.

Vocational classes train for trades



Irvin Layman polishes his bookcase as Mike Troy works diligently at a saw in Wood Shop I.

In first year wood shop pupils learn the use of hand tools. Projects usually consist of simple bookshelves or bookends. In Wood Shop Two boys draw their own plans and study about refinishing. Before one may use a machine, he must read a book giving details on proper use and safety.

Machine Shop Two is concerned with teaching the boys the basic fundamentals of hand tools and simple machines. Exposure to the more dangerous milling machine comes in second year machine shop. The milling machine cuts metal with a multi-edged rotating tool. Its versatility makes it the shop's most useful machine. In vocational shop the boys do repair and maintenance work.

Mechanical drawing teaches proficiency with drawing instruments, lay-outs, basic shop terminology, symbols. Blueprinting gives an understanding of the relationship between blueprinting and industry. The boys acquire an adequate understanding of shop mathematics and the ability to sketch properly. They also learn dimensioning procedures, common machine trade terms, common symbols of industrial drawings.

Power machine shop, formerly auto shop, electric shop, and welding are also offered. In all of Elston's shop classes safety is stressed. Boys protect themselves with aprons, gloves, goggles. Thorough instruction is given in proper handling of machines and tools.

"Is this where it comes out?" asks Ted Herrbach of Mr. Sacks as John Nichols feeds a blueprint into the machine.

Don Kaminski "squares" his metal on the milling machine.

Under the supervision of Mr. Adams, Tom Wine, Jim Wiskeman, and Sandy Joyce learn to change a flat tire in drivers' education class.

Electives develop talents and skills

Aspiring vocalists sing in boys' and girls' choruses, mixed chorus, and a cappella. New to the vocal department is a course in harmony which emphasizes music composition and chord progression. Students are required to compose an original song or write a thesis on a musical instrument. Band and orchestra meet daily for interested musicians. Each band division receives special help in a weekly band sectional.

Art students work with chalk and "dry" brushes. Crafts students experiment with paper mache, wood carving, clay, mosaics.

Drivers' training gives the student important behind-the-wheel experience and shows him the responsibilities of having a car. Beginning students maneuver around imagined hazards in the parking lot to build confidence. Once on the road they concentrate on increasing driving skills—directional changes, parallel and angle parking, proper intersection approaches.

Special term projects and panel discussions are highlights of our safety and health programs. Safety pupils draw charts, dashboards, and learn the functions of automobile parts. To stress safety in summer school, students observe traffic violations from a corner for an hour each week. This teaches them defensive driving. Health students are finding it a challenge to take apart and reassemble the plastic body which is a new addition to the health department.

To one of the sweetest, smartest, sweetest people I know.

Connie Brooker

Stephanie Vivian gaily mimics the choir boy she paints as part of the art classes' window decorating project at yule time.

Jill Olson and Connie Brooker signify their presence in girls' chorus by turning their tags.

"Observe that rest," Mr. Hendricks tells Bob Kemp in band sectionals, a time when each instrumentalist receives attention.

Jackie Skierkowski, third year Spanish student, listens to Spanish tapes while Peg Schwartzenberg arranges her map of South America, a Spanish I project.

German I students Pat Haynie, Margie Noveroske, and Gail Odle imitate Mr. Hibbs as he demonstrates the proper formation of an "umlaut."

John Valentine, Helen Shock, and Dan Steinke broadcast the public school news program from the AVA department.

Language department adds third year

For the first time Elston offers a third year for each language. Students may continue to increase fluency and gain further historical and cultural background in German, French, Latin, Spanish.

French has had a complete face-lifting. Pupils view movies produced by Encyclopedia Britannica; supplementary to movies are scripts and tapes of each scene. Each class progresses at its own rate of comprehension and memorization; the film set increases in difficulty with each episode.

Journalism teaches the tricks of the newspaper trade to aspiring journalists. Lay-outs, dummies, advertising, interviewing are problems which pupils learn to solve. This year's Journalism I students publish an edition of the COMET, gaining an experience and appreciation of the difficulties Journalism II students encounter as editors of the CRIMSON COMET, Elston's bi-monthly newspaper.

Pupils gain platform finesse in public speaking. They acquire the skill to organize their speeches by using logic, references and general requirements necessary for the various types of public address—introducing, award, persuading speeches. One public speaking class has been giving the public school system news live on the radio two days a week. Public Speaking II students practice debating and spend time on an interpretation unit.

The English department teaches grammar, spelling, theme-writing. Pupils receive background in English and American literature and study several English classics.

FRENCH I STUDENTS view a French movie, a new method for learning in the French department.

Basketball players huddled before a game: tense hands and faces in a close circle; anxious voices debating strategy;
sweatcoats, jerseys, heads, arms
form an athletic quilt as seen from the bleachers.
And students in the bleachers: the yellers, hopers, rejoicers and despairers, sweating out each basket with the team. A Bond of Pride unites
the students in the bleachers and the students on the playing floor—
"We're from M.C. High, and no one could be prouder."
But sports at Elston is not only a swift tide of emotion at a game. It is an individual practicing long hours from late summer to the end of fall or from fall to early spring until the body becomes the mind's obedient tool. It is a coach watching a disorganized collection of impulsive adolescents transformed under his supervision to a team. It is hard work; and the fruit of that work is pride: pride in the teams, the coaches, the students—
A Bond of Pride.

Big Red compiles 4-4-1 record

The Red Devils opened their season in what the Hammond Times called one of the "toughest Jamborees in the state." City played Hammond Morton, a team that had intact the squad from last year's number three state team. City surprised the strong Governors 7-0 and then beat the perennially tough East Chicago Roosevelt Roughriders 14-0. The Red Devils beat the Raiders of Gary Tolleston 20-6 in a game that showed many Red Devil weaknesses.

In their first NIHSC game the Red Devils rebounded to trounce Fort Wayne 41-7. Senior Quarterback, Bert Henry, completed five passes in five attempts and scored a touchdown to lead the Big Red to their second straight triumph.

The mighty Senators from East Chicago Washington, then rated number two in the state, invaded City for our Homecoming. The Red Devils, living up to the Overman tradition of never losing a Homecoming, supplied a 14-14 tie to deflate the Senator's hopes of a perfect season.

Traveling to Brickie Bowl late in the season, the Red Devils ruined Hobart's Homecoming 13-12. The Devils broke a five game Brickie win skein.

With the close of every football season the All Conference and All State Teams are chosen. This year as in past years the Red Devils had a place on these teams. Tackle Oscar Lubke was selected by the Associated Press as a first string tackle on the All State Squad. The United Press International selected Lubke and Guard Bruce Chambers as members of their first unit. The Big "O" also was a member of the All Conference Team on the starting unit.

The Big Red outscored its opponents averaging 15 points a game, but allowing only 11. They also outgained their foes by grinding out 2,137 yards to 1,913 for their opponents. The Red Devil Pass Defense was more than adequate with Bert Henry, Vernon Payne, J. B. Kiser, and Jerry Oshinski allowing only four of the opponents sixteen touchdowns to be scored through the air.

Coach Overman will have seven lettermen returning along with this year's Sandburr Squad.

Harriers run to Regionals

The Red Devil Cross Country Team started the 1962 season with a new coach. Mr. Douglas Adams, assisted by Mr. Bruce Fischer, took over for Mr. Millbranth, who is now Business Manager of Athletics. The Devils started out slowly, losing their first three meets, but finished up with eleven wins in their next twelve. The Red Devils played host to the 1962 Eastern Division Northern Indiana High School Conference Cross County Meet and won a Third Place Trophy. The Devils placed 2nd in the LaPorte Sectional; the next week the two milers ended their season by placing 7th in the Regional Meet. Seniors Tim Bietry, Leo LaBerge, and John Edwards sparked the team to its 11-4 record.

Coach Adams had many juniors and sophomores on his squad this year who will return for the 1963 season.

Coach Harold Wegner's Tennis Team gained experience in the 1962 season. The team finished with a 3-5 record; all decisions were against conference opponents. Neil Hartman, Jerry Gibbs, and Ronnie Henderson played the three singles matches for the greater part of the year. Henderson and Hartman played the number one doubles; Jerry Gibbs and Bob Gleason played the other doubles match.

The many underclassmen on this year's squad will form a basis for next year's team.

Coach Del Miller's Golf Team won nine of twenty-one matches during the 1962 season, placed fourth in a large field at the Lake Hills Invitational in Hammond, and placed in the Sectional meet at LaPorte's Beechwood Golf Course. The Red Devils, playing against the stiffest competition at the state meet at Coffin Course in Indianapolis, managed to tie for 28th place.

Senior Jerry Timm gave the Red Devils consistently low scores, with Mark Winski and Bob Peters also contributing to the success of this year's squad.

The Red Devils' Track Team, in their first year under Coach Earl McAnally and Assistant Coach Bruce Fischer, won four out of ten meets. The Thinclads finished fourth at the Hammond Invitational; the Devil's mile relay team placed first at the same meet. J. D. Hairston, captain of this year's squad and high point man on the squad in almost every meet, was awarded the trophy for outstanding track athlete at the 1962 Lettermen's Banquet.

Even though Coach McAnnally lost a few seniors, he will be greeted by nine returning lettermen. These lettermen plus other '62 squad members will give the Red Devils a nucleus for next year's team.

The Swimming Team in its second year of competition finished the season with eight wins and six losses. The Red Devil tankmen, coached by Ross Kuszmaul, compiled a three-four record, finishing fifth in the Eastern Division of the Northern Indiana High School Conference. The inexperienced swimmers at City High beat such teams as Goshen and LaPorte—teams with three years' experience.

The Red Devils also won the Goshen Relays, beating out three other teams. The Devils won fourteen trophies and twenty-six ribbons at the meet. John Curtis was big man in the win at Goshen, winning three individual trophies; in the Conference Meet at the end of the season, he finished third in the backstroke to give the Devils points in the final meet standings. Coach Kuszmaul, satisfied with the team's progress, summed up the season with the exclamation, "A great job!"

The 1962 Red Devil Baseball Team tied for the conference title with South Bend Central, winning seven of their eight conference games. They finished the season with sixteen wins in twenty-one starts. Sophomore Terry Dunlap and senior Dick Jasicki owned 7-1 and 5-1 records respectively. The Red Devil pitchers gave up an average of only two runs per game; junior Bert Henry and senior Jim Arnold led the team with averages of .469 and .426 while Red Devil hitters averaged .269 as a team. The Devils outscored their opponents 148 runs to 54 runs.

The Red Devils lost only three starters from last year's squad. With 13 returning lettermen Coach Parry is looking forward to another successful year and perhaps another conference title.

Red Devils ranked 6th, 8th in state

Coach Doug Adams led the 1963 Fighting Red Devils to a 21-4 record. The Devils placed second in the Eastern Division of the Northern Indiana High School Conference with a record of six wins and three losses. The Big Red held the number eight spot in the final Associated Press Poll and captured sixth place on the United Press Honor Roll.

The senior-dominated team started the season with a ten game winning streak. They beat South Bend Central 75-70 and Chicago Marshal 79-71 during the skein. The last two games of the win streak were victories in the East Chicago Washington Holiday Tournament. The Devils, ranked number two at the time, beat Evansville Bosse, last year's state champ and the number one team in the state at the time (75-61). The following night the Fighting Red won the Holiday Tournament with a 68-46 triumph over the eighth ranking host Senators. During the ensuing week the Associated Press unanimously chose the Red Devils as the number one team in the state of Indiana.

The Red Devil's bubble was popped the following week as unranked but always dangerous Goshen upset the Devils 67-64. The next night the Big Red rebounded to crush the East Chicago Washington Senators 72-51.

The Devils got back on the winning trail as they defeated Elkhart, Mishawaka, and Hammond Noll to give them a record of fourteen wins and one defeat. City traveled to arch-rival LaPorte, and the fired up Slicers beat the Devils for the first time in fifteen games 82-72. Fort Wayne North clipped City while they were down the following week 76-71. The Devils bounced back and finished the regular season with a 17-3 record by defeating South Bend Washington, Peru, and South Bend Riley.

The Red Devils won their twelfth consecutive sectional by defeating the LaPorte team, that had conquered them earlier in the season, 66-62. John Rhodes, J. B. Kiser, and Vernon Payne were selected as members of the All-Sectional Team.

City entered the regional with hopes of capturing their first title since 1935. The Devils defeated a big, fast Gary Roosevelt 88-83 in the afternoon. The final game pitted the Devils against East Chicago Washington, a team the Devils had beaten twice previously. This time six foot nine inch Rich Mason proved too much for the smaller Devils. Mason scored 46 points as he led his team to a 81-67 victory over the Devils, eliminating them from the state tournament. The Red Devils placed four boys on the Gary Post Tribune's All-Regional Team. J. B. Kiser, Vernon Payne, Terry Smith, and Dale Phillips were selected as members of the team.

During the entire year the Red Devils scored an average of 79 points per game, allowing an average of only 62 points to be scored against them. City's average margin of victory was 17 points. Dale Phillips led the Red Devils in rebounding by pulling down a total of 263 caroms. This figure gave the six foot four inch senior an average of 10.5 rebounds per game. Vernon Payne, the only junior on the starting five, led the Devils in scoring for the second straight year averaging 17.5 points per game and acquiring a total of 433 points for the year.

Every man on this year's squad lettered. Even though six seniors will graduate, six juniors are waiting to move up with many impressive sophomores who compiled a 12-7 record for coach Dick Lamb's Pink Imps.

Somehow
we have pride
in all the students:
in those we've selected as our friends; in those who've learned under the same teacher, who've worked long hours on the same team, who've helped plan magnificently insane club parties, who ride the same bus or live on the same street; and in those who simply attend Elston. We have pride in the teachers
Who've led, taught, cajoled, punished, and advised us; we grumble about long assignments and detentions and swear we'll hate a teacher the rest of our lives, then suddenly discover that we've learned while we suffered.
These varied individuals are what really constitute our school; they are all united by a Bond of Pride.

Lack of space was the biggest problem confronting our administrators during the 62-63 year. Mr. Smith and Mr. Yentes, working with the School Board, purchased land for a junior high school in Lakeland and an elementary school for the South Gate Subdivision. An additional six rooms were added to the Knapp Elementary School. This year Mr. G. Robert Stevens was appointed Director of Transportation.

Following through administrative decisions were Mr. Haney, Elston Senior High principal, and Mr. Jones, assistant principal. They tackled the need of space in Elston and found new ways to fit in the 1850 students.

Seniors bid Elston farewell

Three years at Elston end on the auditorium stage with a small leather-encased piece of paper; three years at Elston end with tears, impassive mature faces, a noisy flock of congratulating relatives, high-spirited parties—they end with a half-whispered goodbye, said walking out the door, or leaving the last class, or looking at the school a day or a month later.

We started as sophomores; our party was "The Wild West"; we came to know Elston—its class elections, homecoming, cheerleader elections, Red Devil games, assemblies, classes, clubs. Then we were juniors, next to the top; we presented "January Thaw"; our Prom was "Bali Hai." To lead our Senior Class we chose Tom Dolembo as president, John Hileman as vice-president, and Theresa Gryvna as secretary-treasurer. Our class sponsors were Mrs. Jeanette Urquhart and Mr. Harold Wegner. As seniors we've crowned our three years by setting up a scholarship fund in honor of Fanny. From the raw material of three years we've molded an experience we won't forget. We're proud of it.

CLASS OFFICERS—John Hileman, vice-president; Theresa Gryvna, secretary-treasurer; Tom Dolembo, president.

In Memoriam

On Saturday, April 13, 1963, seniors lost a friend and classmate, Dallas W. Chappell. Mr. Haney expressed the sorrow felt by all who knew him: "He leaves to you a most precious gift, one more precious than gold. It is a gift which cannot be tarnished but rather will grow brighter and brighter as you pause daily to view it. It is a gift of beautiful memories. Keep it ever close to your heart and mind."

Hard work and social events occupy juniors

Juniors were kept busy studying hard, working on student council, the junior steering committee, and various clubs. They actively joined sophomores and seniors in yelling at pep sessions, attending dances, and sporting the latest fads.

Class officers were Bob Bannwart, president; Kent Lange, vice-president; Cris Sadenwater, secretary-treasurer. Class sponsors were Mrs. Phyllis Durand, Mr. Bernard Lootens.

Among class activities were the Junior Class play, "My Sister Eileen," and the prom for which they earned money on junior concessions. Competition between classes disappeared as the juniors gave the seniors one last memorable night.

CLASS OFFICERS—Kent Lang, vice-president; Cris Sadenwater, secretary-treasurer; Bob Bannwart, president.

Sophomore life filled with new experiences

After the bewilderment of the first few weeks, sophomores, beginning to feel more at ease, settled down to the routine of Elston. Days and nights were filled with studying, club meetings, and fun.

Class officers were Doug Gloff, president; Kristi Cook, vice-president; Sandy Joyce, secretary-treasurer. The Sophomore Class sponsors were Mrs. Beverly Warren and Mr. Richard Cook.

"West Side Story," the theme of the sophomore party, livened the first social function. Clad in bluejeans and sweatshirts and devouring refreshments, the Sophomore Class celebrated the traditional night.

CLASS OFFICERS—Sandy Joyce, secretary-treasurer; Doug Gloff, president; Kristi Cook, vice-president.

Mary Ann,
You're my very best friend and I hope we'll always be friends. We've had a lot of fun together and I hope we'll continue to. There were the bad times too, of course, but I don't think we'll ever forget them or ever want to. I hope someday things will work out right for both of us. They can't always turn out so lousy. But if you would've taken the wonderful advice I gave you maybe it would've turned out better. You're the very best enemy I've ever had. Don't ever change your ways or let anyone change them for you. (Notice that I wrote around the picture)

Love ya

Mary Ann,
You didn't have to bite my head off. I'll just sign it pere then.
You're a real, real cute girl, nice too. I hope we have french
together again next year.
Loads of Luck.

Judy

Mary Ann,
Is a real gone gal that has helped make my year a complete and happy one.
Best of luck with everything.

About seventy people will read this copy:
The ELSTONIAN staff
and their relatives, those who rate this book, those being thanked,
and one or two strays who opened the book backwards and think this is the beginning;
therefore,
for all but the latter, we shall continue.
Thanks to all the people who made the book impossible —to the teachers who endured our call-outs, to the students who waited for the photographers who never came,
to photographers we mis-scheduled,
To Root Studio,
to Smith Cover Company,
to our advertisers, to our Seniors, and to Mrs. Nightingale, who somehow retained her sanity.

Mary Ann,

Ya a real stupid
nut, but a brain and all classes. I hope we always remain the best of friends. Good luck in everything you do and especially with that certain boy. I hope we see each other this summer.
